From Powder Horn Hill the view of our thickly populated industrial city is clearly revealed. The small cozy city where most of us were born, reared, and well educated.

The Mystic River Bridge, opened for use in 1953, is a speedy source of transportation not only for the inhabitants of our city, but also for its commuters.

CHELSEA

In Chelsea, the city of many denominations, harmonious living is an outstanding factor. This is clearly shown by the close companionship of the students of various religions at the school.

CHELSEA

The Chelsea Memorial Hospital, where a large majority of our students were born, stands aloft on Bellingham Hill. This site is one which will always remain outstanding in our minds.

our community...

CHELSEA

Our allegiance to America is one of the highlights of our school as well as our city.

By painstaking thought through the efforts of our guidance counselor, problems of many students are wisely solved.

At Chelsea High School, expressing one's opinion is practiced as well as enjoyed by every pupil. By this we are benefitted in two ways: freedom of conscience and practice in oral presentations.

As we gaze upon these pages, our educational standards are clearly revealed. Allegiance to the flag distinguishes the patriotic feeling which pervades the building. Meanwhile, Joyce, expressing her thoughts, proves that the practice of public speaking is one of the highlights of the school. We observe that guidance and advice are freely offered to aim many of us toward future success, while Marty portrays the ability of our boys to enforce the school rules. Last but not least we view the library, a picture which demonstrates the opportunity offered to all of us to gain extensive knowledge.

... Chelsea means

Mr. Richman's assistance enables students to select the colleges for which they are best qualified and which fill their individual needs.

Our traffic boys, with friendly remonstrations, help to keep order in the corridors and to prevent needless accidents.

By taking advantage of the excellent variety of books in our library, many eager students have gained extensive knowledge.

... our educational standards

Upon this table lie the symbols of our educational standards in Chelsea High School.

Administration

For more than thirty years, Mr. Davis, our friend as well as advisor, has served as an honorable sub-master in our school. He is a graduate of Bates College in Maine, where he received his Bachelor of Science degree. Prior to his present position he has had much experience in teaching which has been of great assistance to him.

Our able head master, Mr. Kennelly, has achieved as well as contributed much in the field of education. Being the recipient of both Bachelor of Science and Master of Education degrees, proves the reason for his ability in successfully managing the affairs of the school. For eight years he served as head master at Carter School, after which time he undertook his present position.

Mr. J. Frank Herlihy, superintendent of the public schools, is outstanding in our minds because of his painstaking efforts to better our school system. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree after which he attained his Masters degree in administration. Because of his experience and wisdom he has been able to execute the official duties of the school system, no matter how trying the situation.

... Chelsea means education

We are exceptionally proud and appreciative of our faithful and successful administration in the Senior High School. Indeed, it would be impossible to mention all of their numerous duties, but we sincerely hope that the few which we have revealed, have helped you to realize the importance of this staff. It is clear that only with their aid are the everyday activities of the school kept in order.

Miss Grace Pizanno has truly revealed herself as one of the outstanding workers in our school. She is deserving of much credit, for while carrying out the duties of an up to date housewife, she manages to find time to successfully handle the clerical details.

Miss Etta Kotzen, who has been employed in the office for quite a number of years, is an indispensable aid to our school. Her efficiency and capability are the causes of the smooth functioning of the clerical work of the school.

Without the aid of our office girls, there would surely be much chaos pervading the school. The collection of attendance as well as neat type-written work, are among their major duties which are faithfully and exceptionally well performed by many members of our class.

Senior Officers and Council

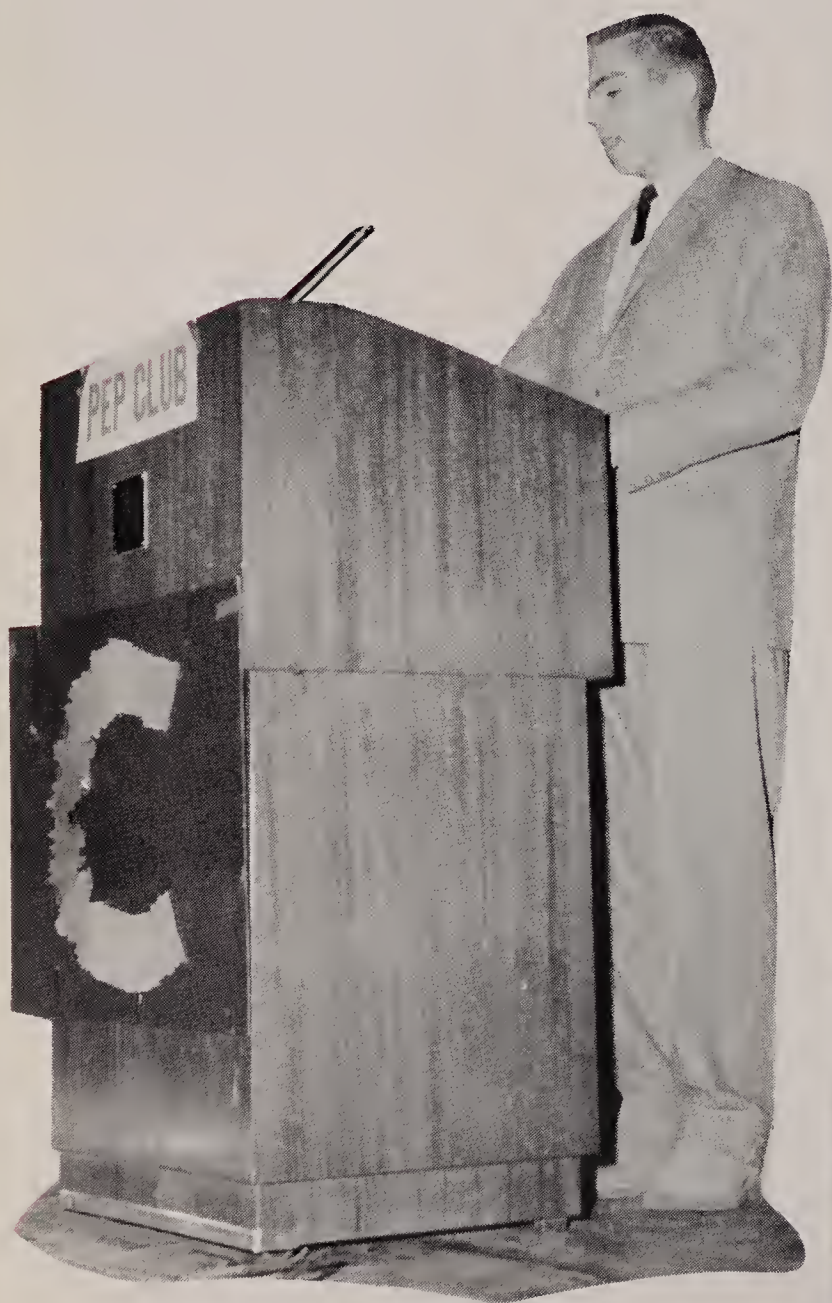

Carl Hudson, is not only one of our athletic heroes but also serves as vice-president.

A glowing aspect to our school life, both scholastically and socially is our class secretary, Joyce DeAngelis.

Throughout this past year, our senior council has worked ardently with the class officers and our advisor, Mr. Kipnes, in planning the Winter Frolic, Senior Prom, and Senior Reception, a few of the functions of the class. Indeed, we could not have had such success in our school life if our class representatives had not worked so hard to accomplish all that had to be done.

Occupied with the determination of successfully planning our class activities are the members of our senior council: Lucille Barbati, David Barron, Laura Galinski, Vincent DeFlumeri, Judy Harrison, Herbert Goldberg, Linda McCallum, Martin Leader, Nancy Mitchell, Henry Phillips, Wilma Roberts, James Smith, Thelma Spector, Jerome Tanzer.

Presiding over our council meetings as well as leading our class in their various activities is our devoted President Edward LeClair.

Our class finances are entrusted to our capable treasurer, David Fee.

Mr. Kipnes, our class advisor, is a great asset to us in helping to plan our class functions.

Our class ring . . .

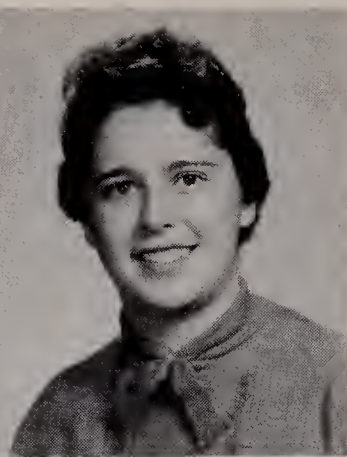

One of the duties of our class officers is to partake in various assemblies.

Junior Council . . .

The Chelsea Senior High School class of 1959 seems to be well on its way toward an outstanding senior year. The excellent leadership of their officers, Robert Tiro, president; Ronald Wasak, vice-president; Peter Dalis, treasurer, and Phoebe Blake, secretary, as well as their council and class advisor, proves the ability of the class members in making wise selections. Having enjoyed an eventful Winter Frolic, the leaders at present have their attention turned toward the junior prom. Indeed, we seniors wish you the best of luck in the future and sincerely hope that your last year at C.H.S. proves to be as successful and enjoyable as ours.

In the above picture our sincere adviser, Mr. Nathan Margolis, appears to be quite pleased with the general conditions of the class.

We at Chelsea Senior High School are truly indebted to the Guidance Department. Through their varied duties, which include, assisting troubled students, guiding future college applicants, and placing those students who approach them in part-time as well as full time jobs, they have certainly put many a boy and girl on the right road to success. They have dealt with as well as shared in the trials and tribulations of these students, bringing them closer to the guidance teacher and thus giving them a person in whom they can place their trust. Again we render thanks to Mr. Margolis and Mr. Richman, our guidance counsellors.

Guiding

Mr. Richman, are Nancy, Phyllis, Barbara, and Betty really of assistance to you or are you advising them as you have so many other bewildered students?

Class elections attracted much attention from our student body.

Sarkis, don't look so sad, filing really isn't quite so bad.

Our charleston girls added much spirit to the Thanksgiving rally.

around Chelsea High School

Marty, do your father's actions amuse you that much?

Could it have been our cheering that drove us to victory?

The pleased expressions on the faces of all of Miss Hand's students clearly prove that sophomore English is exceedingly interesting.

English . . . our basic culture

Mr. Stewart, as head of the English Department, you certainly have contributed much in helping the students at Chelsea Senior High School receive a strong foundation of the English language.

Miss Malone, don't tell us that the senior students are not able to spell antidisestablishmentarianism! It seems impossible since they are so well instructed!

We at The Chelsea Senior High School are grateful for the superb department of English which we have, headed by Mr. Max E. Stewart. The fine teaching of the college and academic course by English teachers namely, Mr. Stewart, Miss Hand, Miss Malone, Mr. Greenfield, and Miss Cox help those students wishing to enter college to be well prepared for their future endeavors. The students in the commercial and general courses are well trained by their teachers, Mr. Greene, Miss Cox, Miss Kuhn, Miss M. Connolly and Miss Burnett, to better themselves with higher pay and more interesting jobs. With the help of all of these teachers, through their experience, we are able to become better citizens. We thank all of them for preparing us so well for our future.

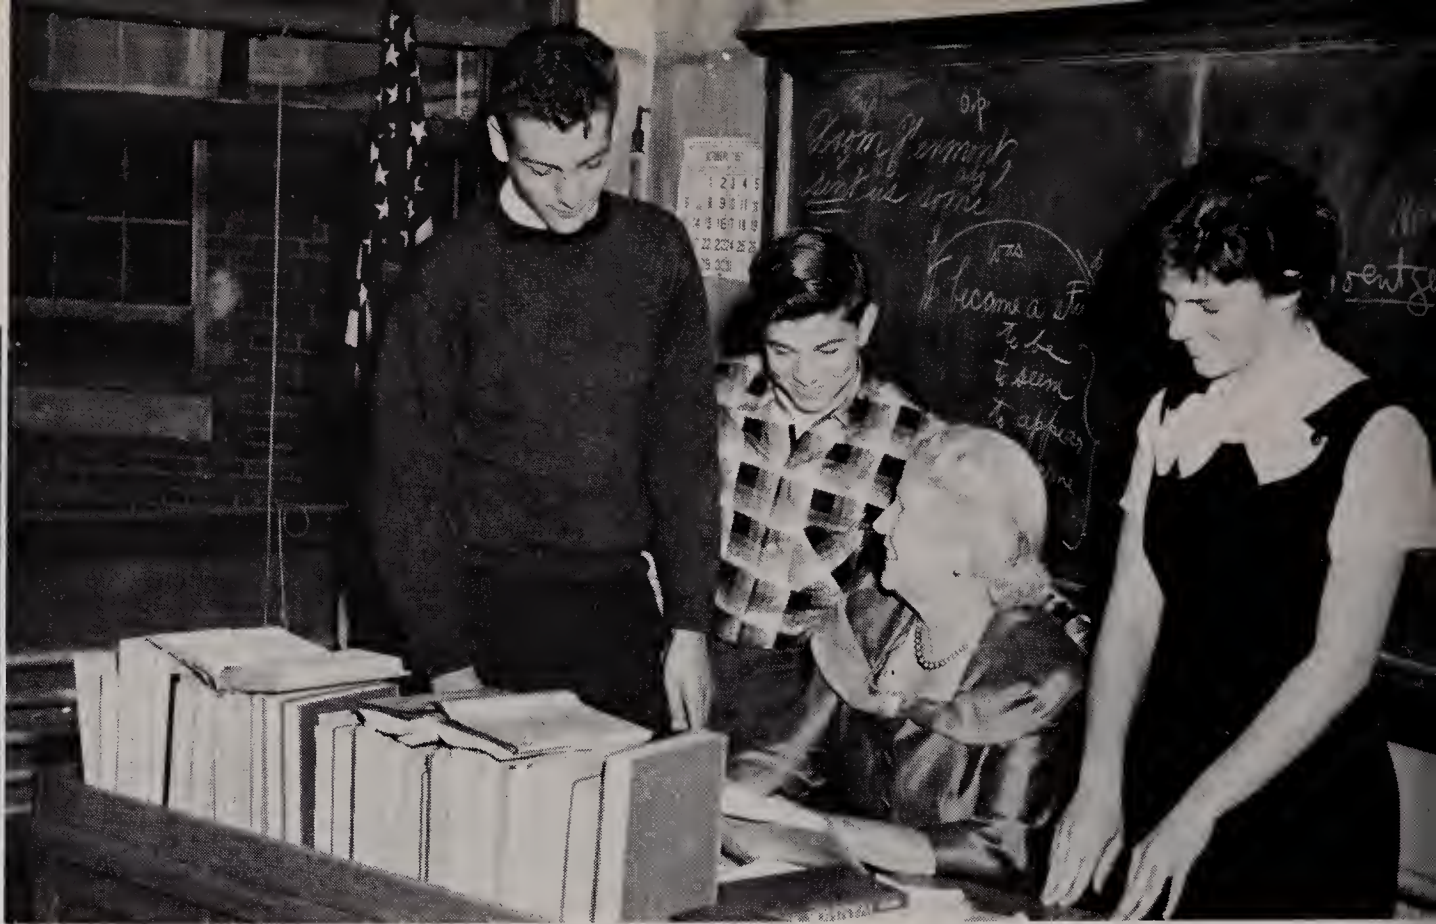

Mr. Green, we are sure that when the students complete your course, they will certainly speak in well-modulated tones.

They really seem intrigued, Miss Cox, the book must surely meet with their approval!

Are we to assume that the class is having another test, Mr. Stewart? Oh well, they can't complain, for they are guaranteed an excellent background in English.

Is the story which Mrs. Melley has just explained really as clear as the smiles on your faces?

Our means of communication . . .

You had better pose at your best class, for Miss Burnett has that marking book right in her hands.

Miss Kuhn, your class seems quite happy this morning. Were the results of the last test that satisfactory?

As Miss Connolly is demonstrating, good posture is an important factor in successful speaking.

Is he reading his composition correctly, Mr. Greenfield?

Biology seems to have actually carried them into the world of the unknown, Mr. Lenkiewicz. Their unusual expressions of intense interest proves this fact.

Come, come, boys, you know better than that! Mr. Staples wants those books closed and your attention directed wholly on the film.

Keep those beaming smiles, class. It may be difficult at first, but you're bound to understand the theory sooner or later.

Science . . . search

In the struggle for scientific supremacy in which we now find ourselves engaged, it is of the utmost importance that each of us have a basic knowledge of the sciences. In addition to learning the basic principles, we learn a great many practical things which we can employ in our everyday living. Our chemistry, physics and biology classrooms, under the supervision of Mr. Carl Staples, Mr. Carl Anderson, Mr. Aaron Kipnes, Mr. Roman Pucko and Mr. John Lenkiefor the unknown

Above we see the able head of our science department, Mr. Staples, who by his painstaking work, has added greatly toward its success.

If you grasp it any firmer, Arthur, the bottle is sure to burst and we just couldn't endure the pervading smell of H_2S again.

Mr. Kipnes, you didn't stick the carrot in the poor girl's eye, did you? That couldn't be true. She's probably just camera shy.

wicz, can be truly termed as doorways to the road of success. Here we are taught to observe and not just to see. We are taught the answer to the question, "Why does this happen?" Our science department has afforded many a student a fine background for his study in college. The knowledge of science gives us a broader understanding of the world about us and this alone is proof of its value.

Social Science . . . Chelsea's

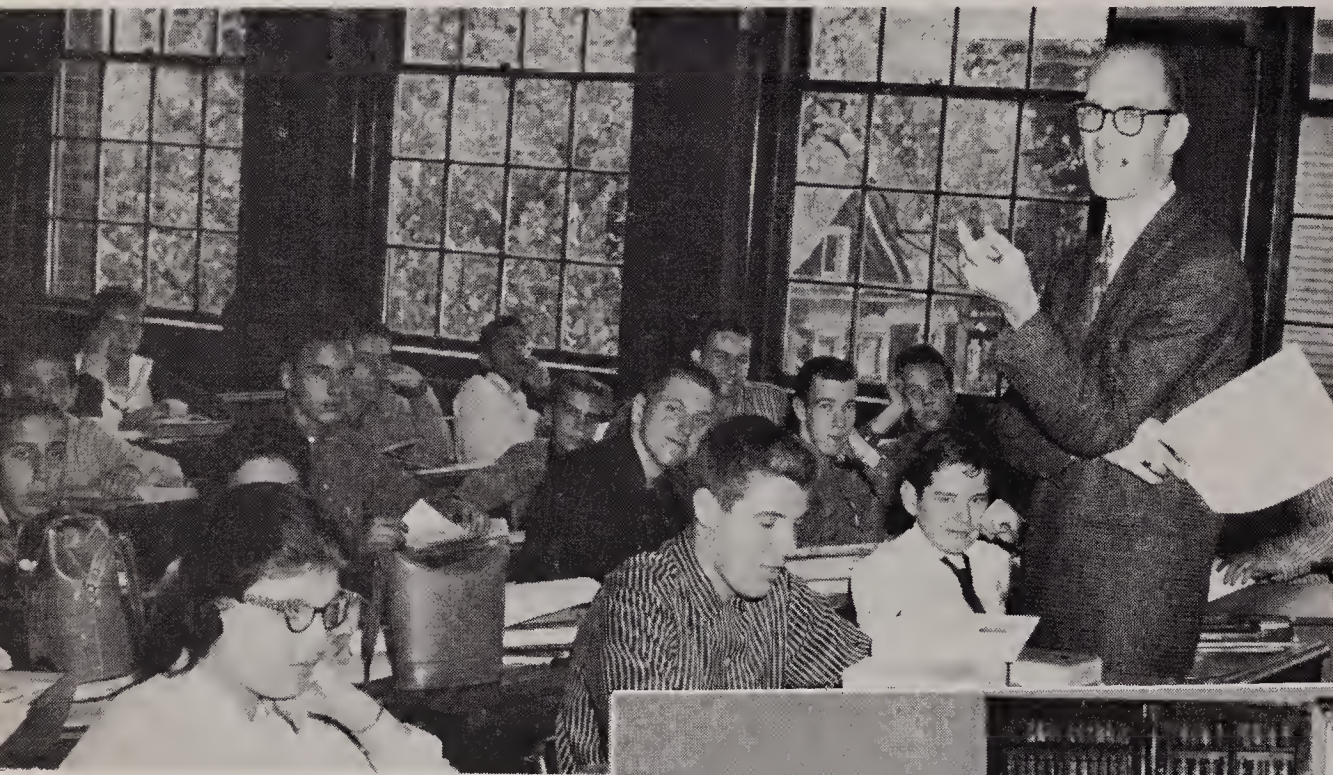

In order to prepare a student at Chelsea Senior High School for proper and intelligent understanding of the world, the people, and their individual problems an outstanding social studies program is provided.

The most important, United States History, the study of the American way of life, is a necessary subject and one which is required to graduate. This subject is under the capable leadership of Mr. Max Leader, Mr. Irving Schwartz, and Mr. Bernard Berenson.

For a good citizen to best realize the affairs of the world in the past, present and future an excellent course in world history is given by Mrs. Montezano, Mr. John D. Ryan, and Mr. Morris Shapiro.

Those interested in the structure and function of politics in the United States government are treated to a course in Problems of Democracy, under the supervision of Mr. Sheldon Greenglass. Those who elect this subject receive a firm foundation necessary for one to become a proud and self-informed citizen.

If a student desires, he may take Mr. Albert F. Pierreti's interesting and informative course of Consumer's Education, which helps to explain various social and economic problems, or may elect Miss Anna B. Israelite's subject, Business Law, which teaches students about various taxes, contracts, as well as the legal aspects of business.

Are the students comprehending your explanation, Mr. Shapiro? They seem to be somewhat stunned, but don't worry, world history requires meditation before realization.

Don't look so depressed, class, the study of the world can prove to be quite interesting.

interest in world affairs

By this picture, it seems that our world is a humorous object to the eyes of the students. Are we correct, Mr. Leader, or is it simply your personality that produces those smiles?

Mr. Berenson, is Barbara pointing to the correct spot? Did William Penn really start the colony of Pennsylvania there?

That's right, Hank! Continue to fight for democracy as you have been influenced to do through the superb instructions of Mr. Greenglass.

Miss Burke seems quite confident that her students will have no trouble with the construction of triangles.

This proposition doesn't seem to bother the students in Miss MacDonald's geometry class.

Mathematics . . . proving alert minds

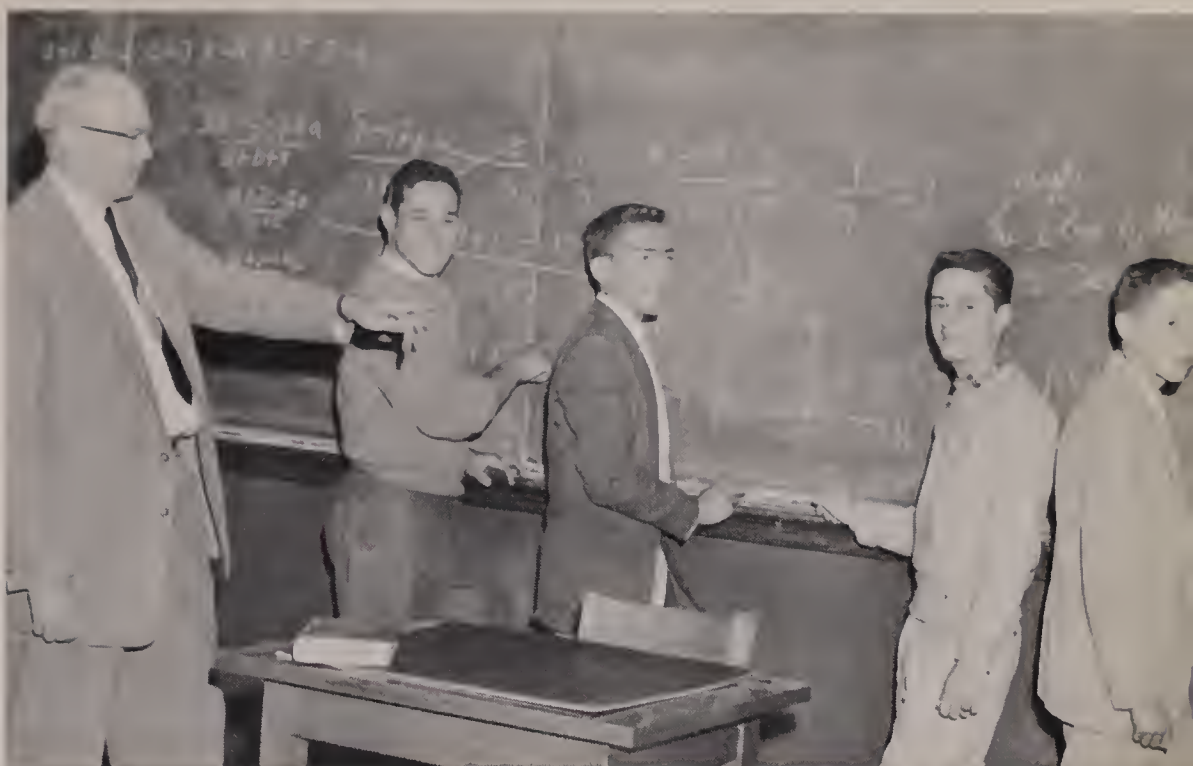

We have come to realize, through our many years of school, the importance of mathematics in our present as well as our future lives. With this in mind, we can see the important job that the Math Department at Chelsea Senior High School has to fulfill for us. For trying to accomplish this difficult task, much appreciation should be rendered to them.

At Chelsea Senior High School our Math Department must be and is of high standards in order to prepare us for our future careers. At this time, we would like to introduce our Math Department, which includes Mr. Lowell, Mrs. Sandberg, Mr. Garvey, Mr. Gootkin, and Miss McDonald. These teachers have made the Chelsea Senior High School Math Department outstanding in the success of their students.

By simply observing Mr. Gootkin's contented look, it appears that his class is doing satisfactory work.

Mr. Garvey's students seem to be enjoying something. Is it their class or could it be a private joke?

Mr. Lowell, do you really think that the boys will have less trouble getting accepted to M.I.T. if they can confidently use the sliderule?

Frank, you seem quite perplexed. Are you having that much difficulty with Mechanical Drawing?

Languages . . .

"Truth is great and it will prevail." This is a saying that is as close to us as Caesar is to Miss Deasy's sophomore class.

Senior German is definitely not similar to floating on a calm sea. But with Miss Severence to help; all the rough spots are smoothed out without too much difficulty.

We were wondering if it's "Les Miserable" your class is reading, Miss Connolly, for they all seem so engrossed.

our universal culture

Miss Deasy and the fourth year Vergil class proudly display the trophy awarded to the school for their excellent results in the nation wide Latin examination.

We, the students of Chelsea High School, are very fortunate in having an efficient and well managed language department to direct us in our various courses in the foreign languages, Latin, French, German and Spanish. The French students, under the guidance of Miss Frances Connolly, head of the entire language department, converse, complete the French grammar and enjoy the various modern books that they translate throughout this course. Under the direction of Miss Ella Deasy, the Latin students accomplish much in their three years at Chelsea High School. They become familiar with the works of Caesar, Cicero, and Vergil. Miss Ruth Severance enables her German students to better understand the German language and to study the great writers, musicians, and scientists of that country. The Spanish students, under the direction of Miss Rose McKenna, gain much information about the Spanish people and are able to speak fluently in that language.

Everyone seems quite interested in what you are writing, Stella. Make sure it's correct.

Commercial . . .

Mr. White, the head of the commercial department, works hard to make sure that everything goes smoothly in this department.

The girls don't seem to be having too much trouble taking dictation, Miss Karwanski.

Aren't you able to find the right card, Pat?

Remember, girls, Mrs. Berenson says you can't look at those keys.

Chelsea High School's Commercial Department offers excellent opportunities for the student body in training for a business career.

Under the supervision of Mr. White, head of the department, a commercial program is planned to enable the pupils to benefit from the vast curriculum which proposes an education in training for every field of business.

With the instruction of Mr. D'Ambrosio and Miss Bennett, a student may obtain all the necessary education in preparing to become a bookkeeper. Mrs. Fogel and Mrs. Berenson specialize in the field of skill, typewriting. To seek training in a stenographic course, one must turn to Miss Karwanski or Mrs. Grosser, who in turn concentrate on one's efforts of transcription.

The interest of machines may also be nourished by Mrs. Malone, instructor of the Calculator, or Miss Sylvester, who offers training in filing and many assorted business machines.

When the course is completed one has a sufficient background to further his education in any of the high rating business schools throughout the country, or, if he desires, Chelsea High will graciously place him in the field of employment for which he so enthusiastically studied.

Don't give up girls, you're just beginning.

Mrs. Grosser, is Janet writing the shorthand forms correctly?

for future work*

Are all your classes this enjoyable, Mr. D'Ambrosio?

Are the students progressing satisfactorily, Mrs. Fogel?

Barbara, does that smile mean that you are confident that Pat will make that hem even?

With all those girls watching you, Gloria, be careful not to catch your fingers.

We, as students of Chelsea Senior High School, have much to gain from our excellent department of home economics. Under the capable supervision of Miss Mildred Johnson, the girls are trained to prepare nutritious and appetizing meals. This course provides the opportunity for them to become dietitians or successful homemakers.

A talent for fashion and an ability for design is found in our sewing department, where the girls cut patterns and design outfits to follow the present fashions. They are under the skillful supervision of Miss Melba Wright and Mrs. Rebecca Mac.

In the future, these girls may lead the fashion designers of the world.

Home Economics ... future homemakers

Mrs. Mack, will these girls be the successful homemakers of the future?

Shop . . . craftsmen at work

The boys in the printing class don't seem to be having any trouble mastering this trade. Do they, Mr. Freedman?

Our courses at Chelsea Senior High School on the instruction of auto mechanics, printing, and woodwork are truly profitable to the boys in helping to prepare them for future vocations.

In the auto mechanics classes, Mr. Arthur J. Hagan supervises the boys while they study the intricacies and care of the automobile.

Mr. Barnett Freedman gives the boys an extensive and complete course in printing, while Mr. Danel S. Santry teaches them the useful and practical craft of woodwork.

Mr. Santry, are you sure Ronnie isn't cutting that piece of wood too short?

These boys don't seem to be troubled by the intricacies of this motor.

Is Joe making the correct adjustments, Mr. Hagan?

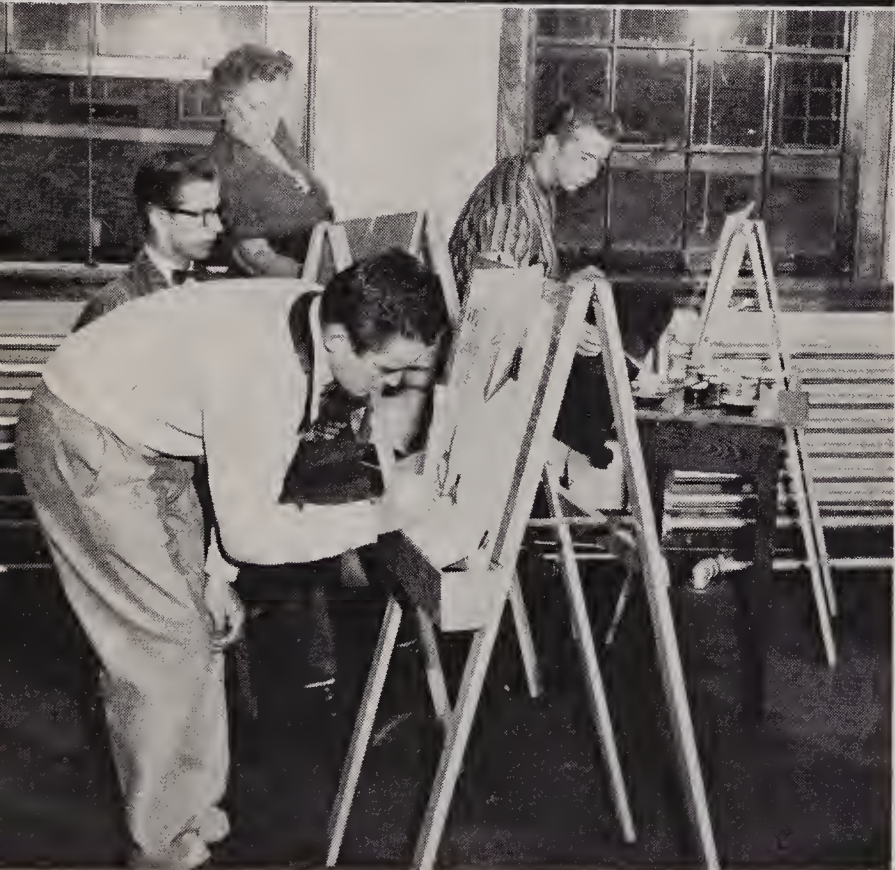

Mr. Toltz, we thank you once again for trying to help the students at Chelsea Senior High School acquire a true appreciation for fine music.

Arts . . . displaying talent

Chelsea High's fine arts department surely adds a little culture and enjoyment to the everyday lives of the students.

Mr. Toltz, director of the music department, offers the students musical background which is divided into two main groups, music appreciation and harmony. Music appreciation gives the students a chance to hear the music of the masters and to better appreciate the finer music. The course in music harmony provides helpful instruction on how to write music and study its construction. Both courses are educational and enlightening to any student interested in music in all of its phases.

The art department, under the guidance of Mrs. Josephine O'Hara, helps the students to use initiative and employ their creative talents. Mrs. O'Hara teaches them to express their thoughts and feelings on canvas. The results are usually very successful.

Keep up the continuous struggle boys, for by the time you complete this art course, we might have another Van Gogh.

I wonder if this picture won first prize. Under the able assistance of Mrs. O'Hara this is very likely.

...bookworms' haven

Chelsea High School students have, and will continue, to profit in wisdom and character, due to its school library.

One may venture to all parts of the world, soar into space, learn to love nature, poems, beautiful music, and wander into many other adventures, by reading various books from the library's vast selection.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Tuton, librarian, one may receive all the help and understanding he is seeking in order to choose and enjoy a book.

Steven, are you having trouble selecting a book? You shouldn't because there surely is a vast selection in our library.

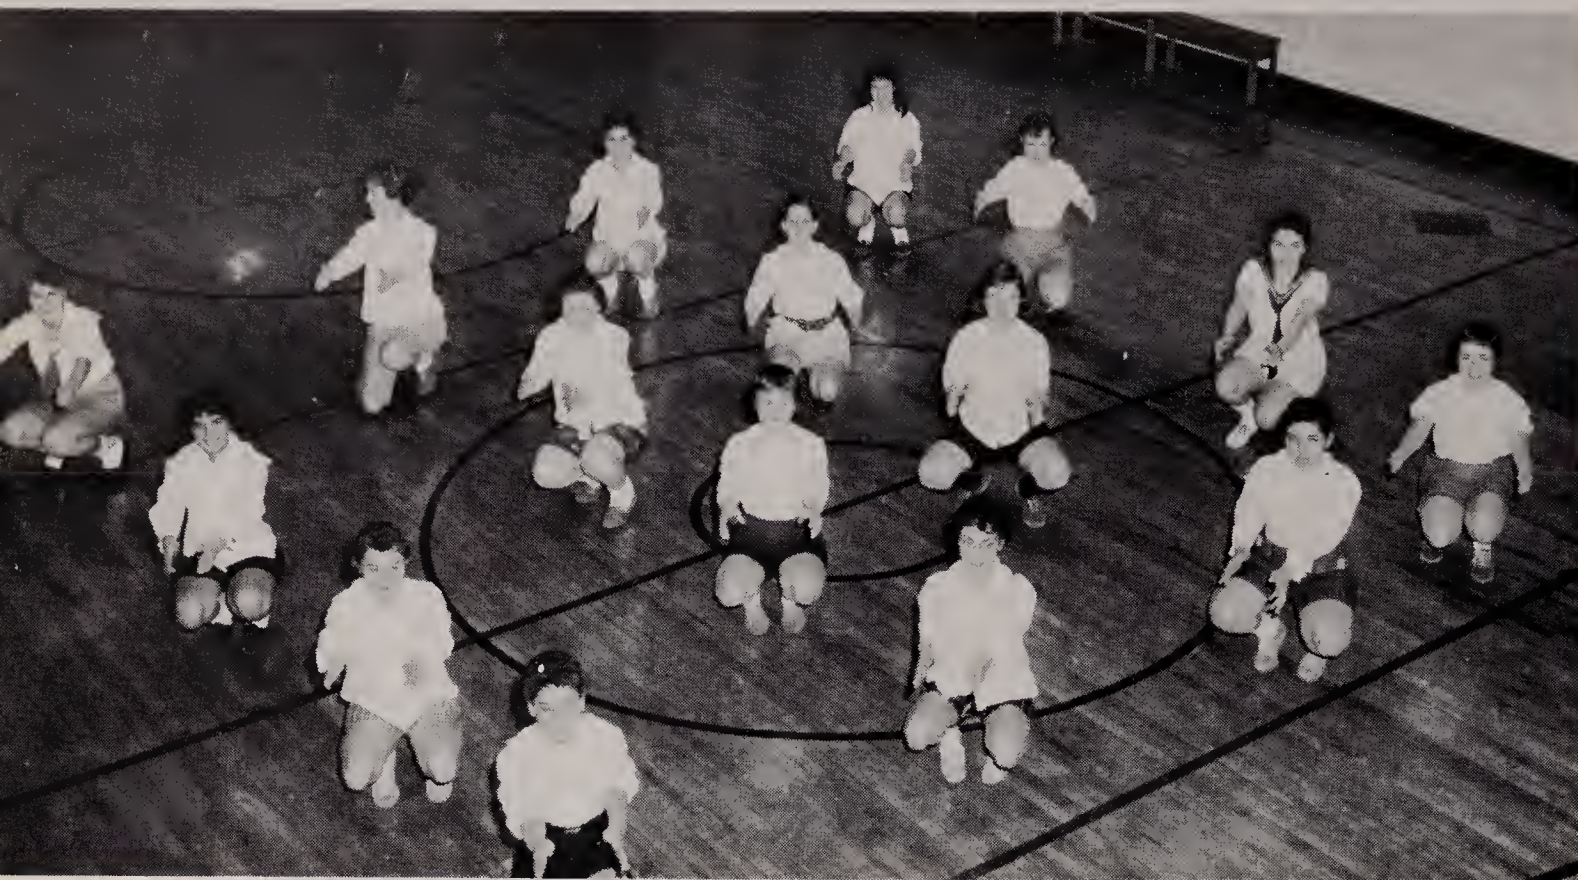

Casualties really seem to be abounding today. We hope they're not very serious.

With Mr. Kipnes's approving look, it seems that Frank is adjusting the Spirit of 76 correctly.

Thanks to Dr. Stone, Miss Painter and Mr. Kipnes, our First Aid Program has grown rapidly. Accidents have come to be a leading cause of death in the United States. The prevention of accidents is what we are striving for at the Chelsea Senior High School. The training which the student has received will enable him to give immediate first aid in case of accidents. Our students will benefit by research and the advance of medical science for many years to come.

Physical Education . . .

That's the way to do it, girls! Steady now, oops, don't lose your balance. You'll simply have to endure your exercises if you wish to maintain those slim trim figures.

One will find the girls enjoying basketball, softball, bowling, and ping pong in the girls' gym classes under the guidance of Miss Reba Painter. The girls agree that Miss Painter's prescription for a strong body is not only beneficial, but also, a lot of fun.

Anyone desiring to learn the secret behind the muscles of our boys, has only to visit Mr. Henry McCarthy's gym classes. The boys major in calisthenics, volleyball, basketball and baseball. They also have relaxing games of ping pong and badminton. However, they claim that even ping pong can be quite strenuous.

No no, don't laugh! We may not appear to be the topmost athletes, but we are sure proud of our attempts! Aren't we?

Auto Driving . . .

Ann Marie, you look so eager to get behind the wheel! It must be that precious pink slip that you are striving for.

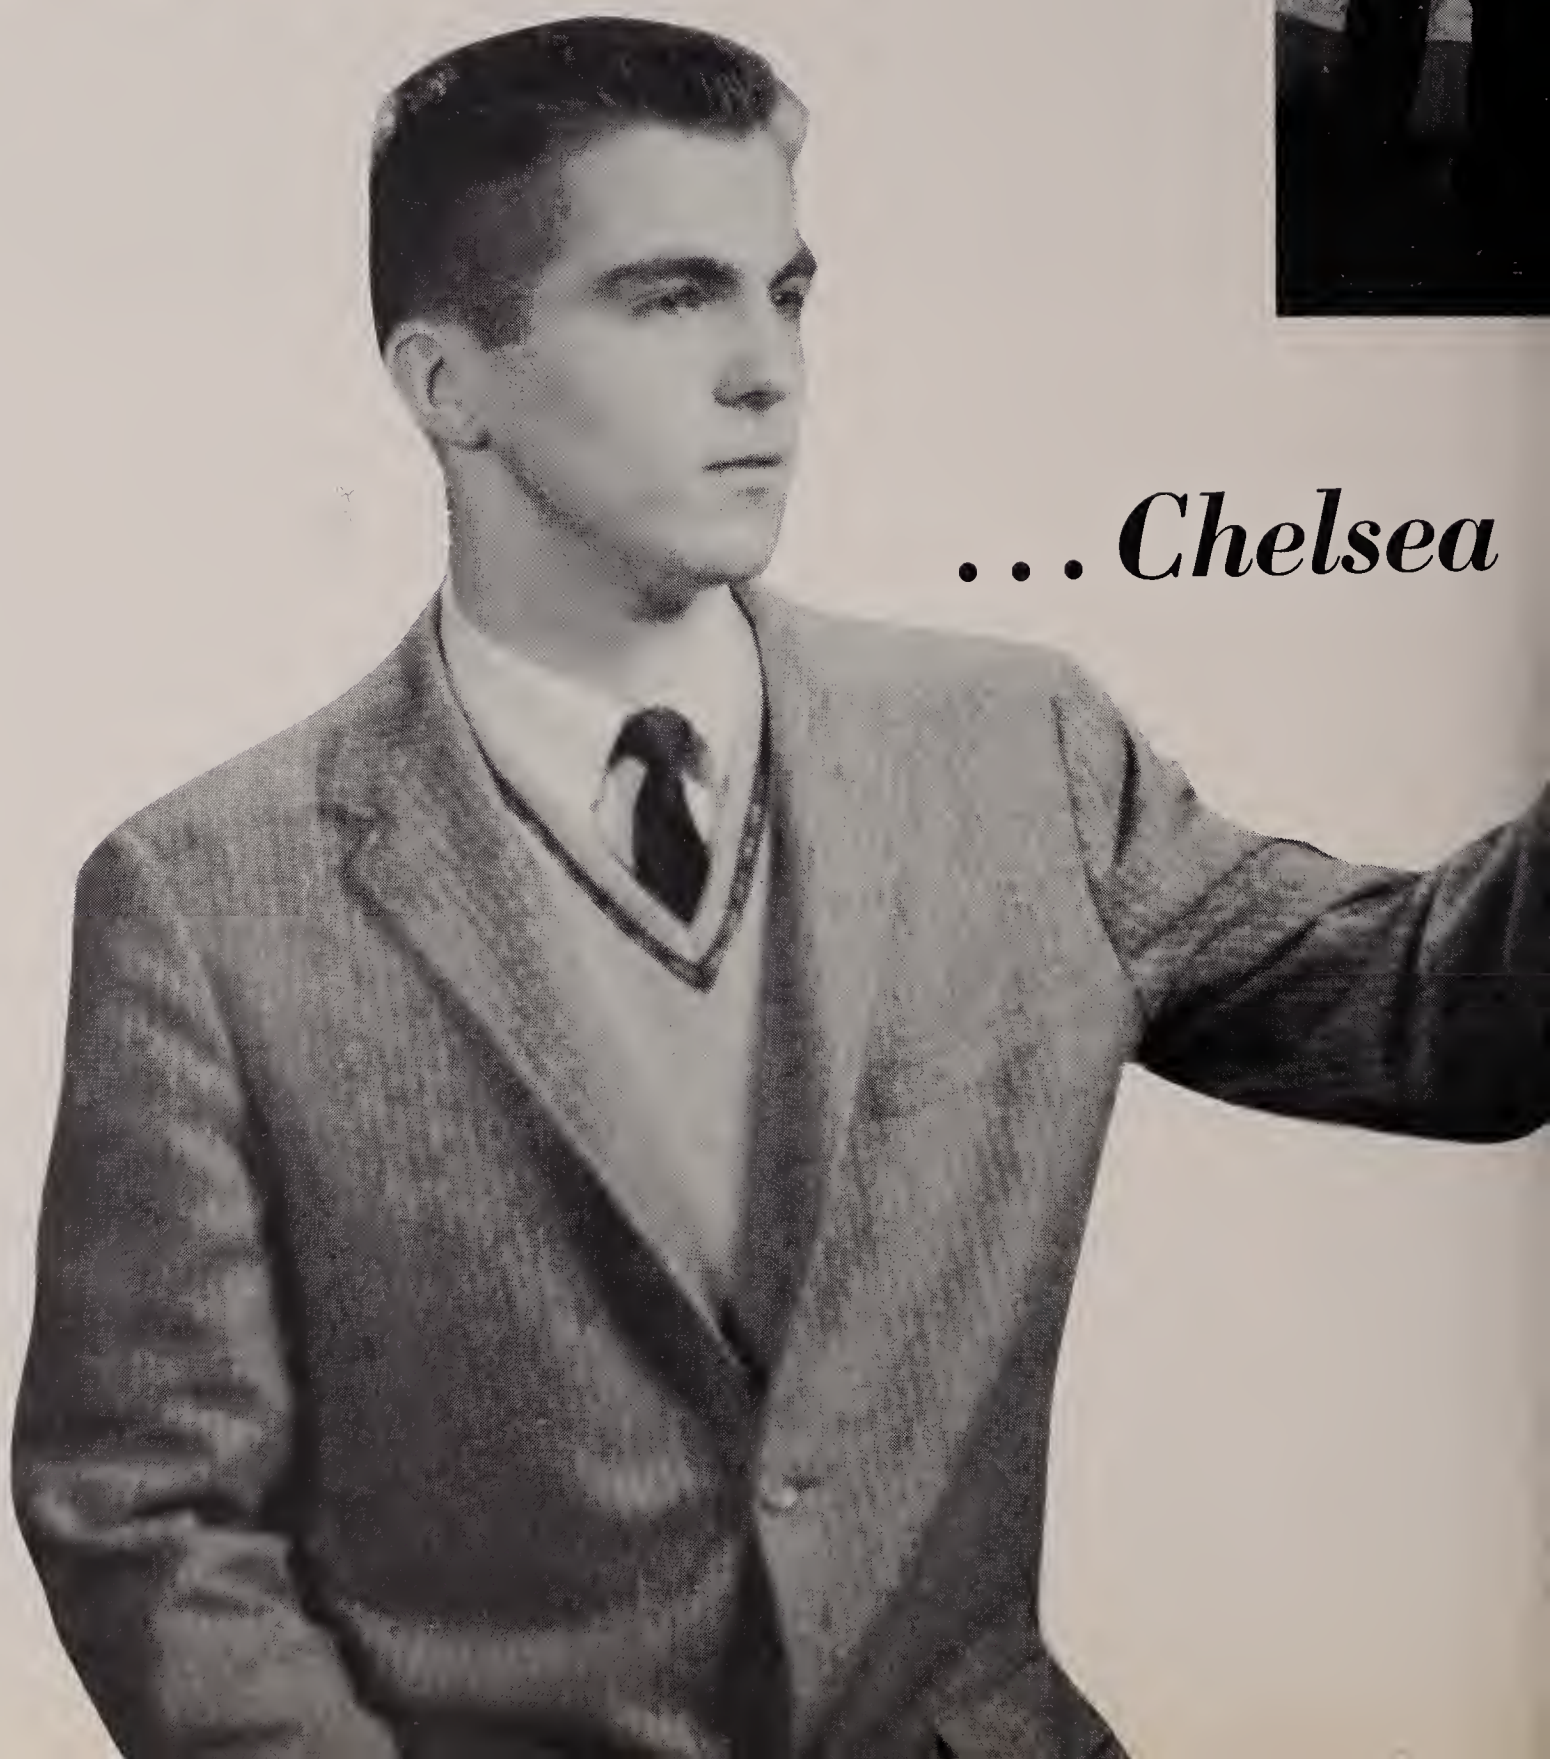

The auto driving program at Chelsea High School has been very successful. Many capable as well as courteous drivers, have been produced as a result of this carefully organized program. Mr. Henry McCarthy explains the rules and regulations for safe driving in an indoor course for sophomore boys and junior girls. Then, under the excellent supervision of Mr. John Welch, Mr. Ralph Filippone, and Mr. Bernard Schwartz, the students are given lessons in the three new Ford sedans, graciously donated to the school by the Crescent Motor Company of Revere. The third and final step is the test given by the inspectors from the registry office. Here, the students must prove that they are well qualified to handle an automobile before they may receive a license. However, most of the students pass with ease having completed our excellent course of training and instruction.

By your pleased expressions, you certainly show that auto driving is quite the diversion from the ordinary curriculum.

Junior Prom . . .

What's everybody laughing about? Could it be the sour note one of our boys hit when they took over the band or is it just the great time that you're all having?

One of the outstanding events of our graduating class was the Junior Prom, held on April 26, 1957.

The auditorium tingled with a twinge of mysterious Paris, for scenes of this magnificent country were decorated throughout the hall to give it a feeling of exotic beauty, touched off by the young ladies dressed in their lovely fashionable gowns, and the gentlemen looked elegant in their white dinner jackets, plaid sashes and bow ties.

Needless to say everyone had a fabulous time, especially dancing to the dreamy music of the Baystaters.

At 10:30 the traditional Grand March took place, led by the president of the class, ending off a wonderful evening.

Students and escorts departed, a satisfied dreamy twinkle in their eyes. Their Junior Prom, their first prom, was indeed a success.

The Grand March, led by the Junior Class Officers, climaxed a most enjoyable evening.

Surrounded by exotic Paris scenes, we danced all evening to the music of the Bay Staters.

The ending of this superb evening was just the beginning of our fondest memories of the occasion.

... the time and the place

Our senior year at Chelsea High School shall never be forgotten and foremost of our memories shall be our Senior Prom.

Senior prom . . .

Eddie, our class president, and his pretty date, Regina, led the class in the Grand March.

We gave great thanks to the Decoration Committee for the beautiful decorations of the theme "Orchids To You".

When the band stopped playing at intermission, these Seniors, with their dates, posed for this picture with the background of the beautiful decorations.

On January 24, the graduating class of 1958 held one of their most important activities of the year, their Senior Prom. The gym was decorated in an impressive scene of "Orchids to You" and Chicky Corea's band supplied the dancing music.

The boys were handsomely attired in suave tuxedos with matching bow-ties and cummer-bunds. As usual, the fashionably gowned girls looked exquisite in their colorful eye-catching formals.

The Cinderella Evening was climaxed by the traditional "Grand March" led by the class officers.

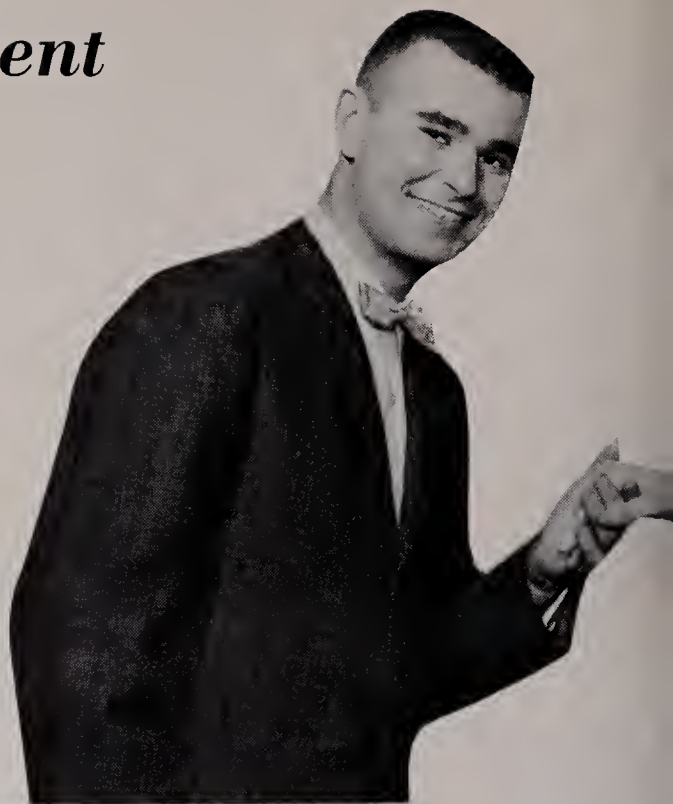

We all enjoyed dancing to the music of Chicky Corea's band.

Our senior class officers seem to be pleased with the outcome of the prom.

Senior Play . . . notable talent

"More Than Meets The Eye" is the fun-loving story of an author and the problems he encounters when he tries to keep people from knowing he is a writer of children's stories rather than the philosopher he pretends to be. Fun and frolic are seen when the publisher and press come to the Grandmother of the Year "Grandma Letty." Excellent acting and fine cooperation on the part of the students made this play a spectacular success. We wish to extend our congratulations to Mr. Irving Schwartz for the superb job he did as coach. We also wish to extend sincere thanks to the candy girls: Captain Gertrude Moriarty, Sandra Caras, Sybil Feldman, Jennie Markiewicz, Elaine Newman, Ann Marie Pinto, Elaine Podradchik, Judith Ribock, Marie Santagate, and Ellen Smith; to the usherettes and ushers:

The whole cast, under the fine direction of Mr. Irving Schwartz, worked energetically to perform a play which we will long remember.

Captain James Smith, Lucille Barbati, Alan Berlin, Lorraine Cozza, Laura Galinski, Yvonne Giguere, Eleanor Goc, Audrey Kaiden, Linda McCallum, Joyce Perakis, Arlene Resnick, Francis Rich, Ruth Rustigan, Joyce Sokolowski, Thelma Spector, Barry Sudikoff, Frances Sliwinski, Donna Weiner, Frada Weiss, Carol Whelan, and Carolyn Wronski; and last but not least the backstage help: Phylis Sax, script girl, Carl Hudson, Backstage manager, and the prompters, Elaine and Ann Locke.

Mr. Schwartz, although it was his first attempt at directing our C. H. S. senior play, turned our high school amateurs into professional and well poised actors.

The nosey photographers, Florence and John, seem to be in on everything even while Carole throws her boyfriend Irwin out the door.

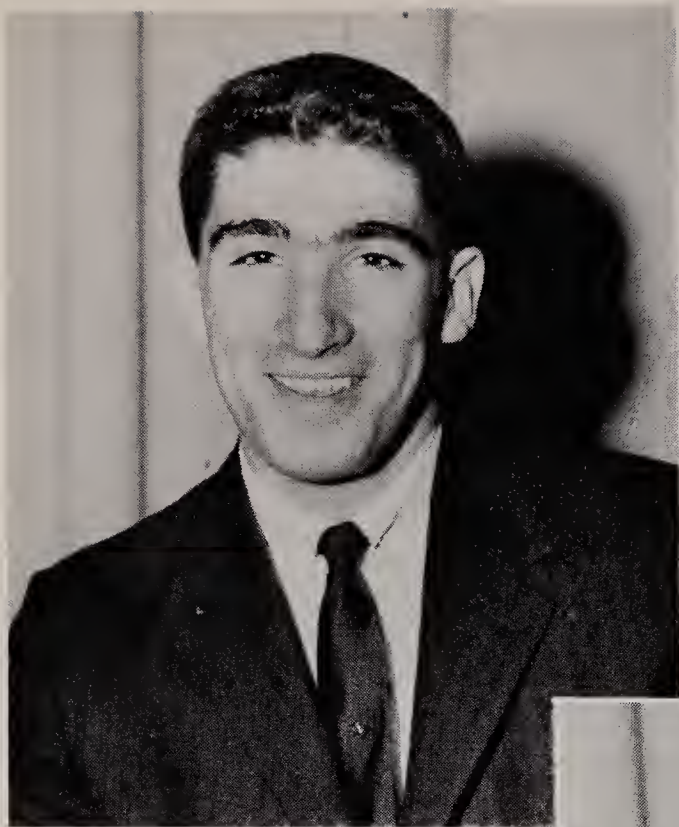

Don't you think Judy and Herbie make the perfect pair? A more suited author and a more charming wife couldn't possibly be found.

Marty, did you really think "Gramma Letty", alias Herbie, would actually accept your proposal of marriage?

Please, Wilma, don't hit Marty he's too young to die.

Cream of the Crop . . .

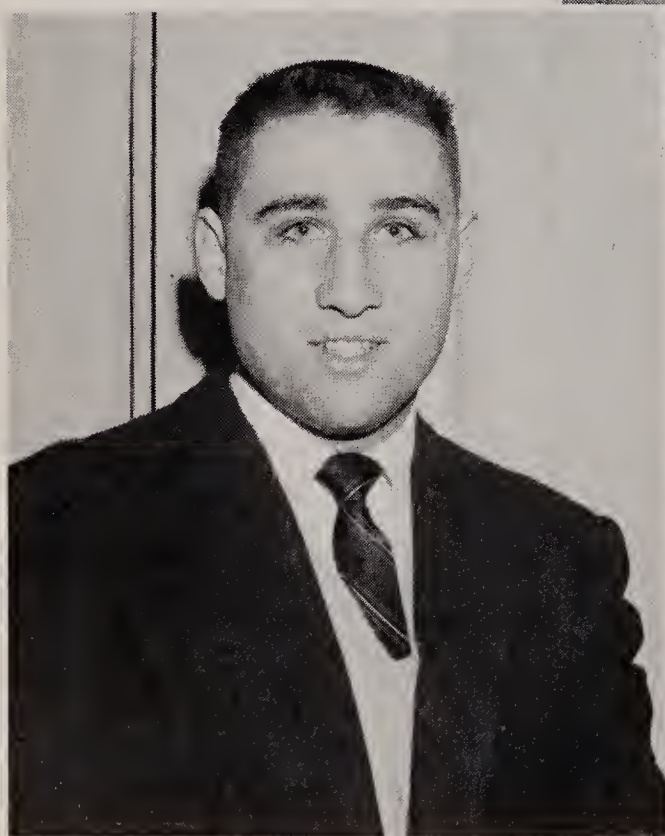

Confident that through his friendliness and ability, he will earn as much credit in the future as he has deserved at Chelsea High, David Barron's classmates have voted him "Most Popular Boy" and "Boy Most Likely to Succeed".

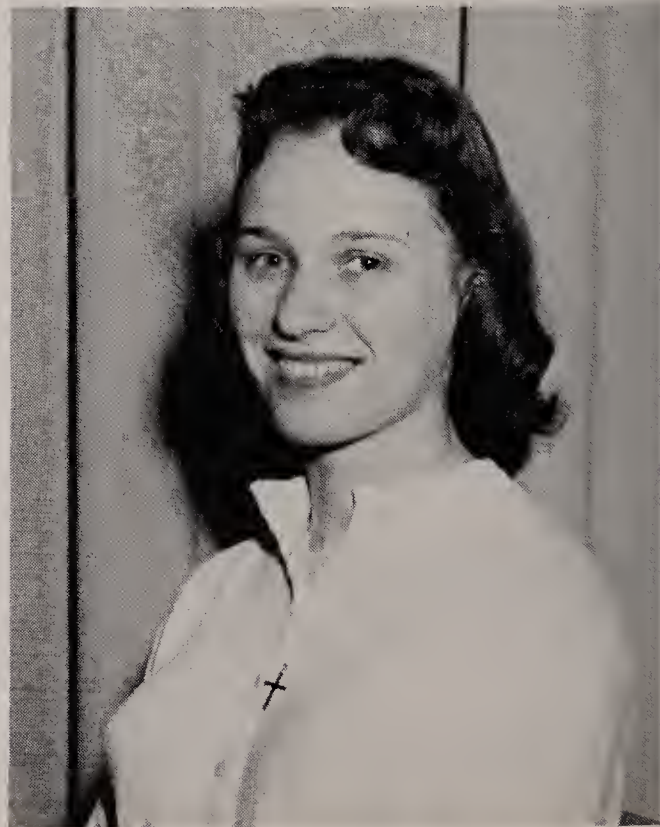

The striking appearance of tastefully attired Gloria Bernstein has won her the coveted honor of "Best Dressed Girl".

Wilma Roberts, our "Most Intellectual Senior", has been chosen the girl "Most Likely to Succeed". Her extra-curricular activities and excellent scholastic record have made her one of the most outstanding members of our class.

Admired by all for his outstanding athletic ability, Vinny DeFlumeri, co-captain of the football team, has been awarded the title of "Best Athlete."

Jennie Markiewicz's selection as "Best Looking Girl" was caused by her pretty features and evident attractiveness to the male members of our class.

Good taste in clothes as well as his good looks were the main factors that won for Bob Leonard the dual titles of "Best Looking Boy" and "Best Dressed Boy".

Friendliness, charm and a sparkling personality brought to Joyce DeAngelis the titles of "Most Popular Girl" and "Girl with the Best Personality". Joyce is secretary of our class as well as co-captain of the cheering squad.

Carl Hudson's vivacious personality and sparkling wit have brought to him the distinction of "Boy with the Best Personality".

Joyce Sokolowski's wonderful singing performances at our assemblies and rallies have won her the selection of "Most Talented Senior".

The Yearbook Executive Committee, under the capable and helpful direction of Mr. Max E. Stewart, has discovered that nothing of merit can be created without much time and effort. Planning and preparing pictures, editing and revising copy, checking proofs, obtaining data, and organizing the book as a whole is what this group strives to do. Many hours of long and tedious work are put into this one publication.

Under the excellent advisorship of Mrs. Alice Sandburg and Miss Evelyn MacDonald, Gamma Alpha Tau has enjoyed much success this year.

A highlight of the Gamma Alpha Tau program was guest speaker Paul Sandorff, Associate Professor of Aeronautical Engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The professor addressed the members on the new space age at one of their regular meetings. The Gat members have devoted many hours to tutoring and giving extra help to many of the students. As always, Gamma Alpha Tau is constantly striving to stimulate and carry on the interest and success enjoyed by Chelsea High School in the ever growing field of mathematics.

Dedicated to upholding the tradition of free speech, the C. H. S. Debating Club has passed another year at the high school. Mr. Maurice Greenfield, English teacher, has as always, given the Club and its members his utmost attention and aid in his capacity as guidance instructor. The members have enjoyed many formal debates, and some not so formal, under the direction of their president Jerome Tanzer, and vice-president, Sheperd Goldstein.

The Latin Club under the excellent supervision of Miss Ella M. Deasy and Miss Agnes Burnett, endeavors to present to the Latin students, studying Vergil, Cicero, and Caesar, a sound foundation of Roman mythology, and social and political customs. This is accomplished throughout the year by skits, contests, plays, and panels, in which the members take part as well as write. Outstanding this year have been the presentations of the "Nox Ante the Saturnalia" and the "$64,000 Question."

The Latin Club officers and the members wholeheartedly would like to extend their thanks to Miss Ella Deasy for her excellent advice throughout the year.

The day of a German Club meeting is one that all German students look forward to with a great deal of anticipation. Under the capable guidance of Miss Ruth Severance, the program presented is usually enjoyable and informative.

A major attraction at every meeting is the German Band which always plays a varied selection of folk songs. The members also participate in the traditional group singing which includes the old favorite, "Schnitzelbank." On many occasions, a short skit is usually put on by some of the members of the club.

The Spanish Club, El Circulo Espanol, under the direction of Miss Rose M. McKenna, consists of students who were interested in learning more about the language, literature, and customs of Spain and Spanish speaking countries.

Five meetings were held this year. These meetings were opened by the president; then the report and roll call were read by the secretary. Original skits and plays, enacted by members of the various classes, were hi-lights of the meetings.

The Spanish Choral Group was a welcome attraction at the meetings, this group being composed of members who had an interest in Spanish type music.

Joe Rubin, President of the Science Club, along with his able assistant, Martin Kahn, have both done much in trying to promote an interest for science throughout the school.

Science . . .

The members of the Science Club, under the expert guidance of Mr. Staples, attempt to further the interest in science within our school. Membership is open to all students, regardless of marks and they are not required to take a course in science. At each meeting, held on the last Tuesday of each month, talks on some phase of science, including interesting demonstrations, are presented by one of the members. The annual science fair, which added much color to the proceedings of the club, was held in the spring.

Journalism Club . . .

The Journalism Club, under the capable guidance of Miss Mary M. Hand, has furnished our students with the latest news of the events and happenings here at Chelsea Senior High School through the weekly publications of the News Notes and the four quarterly issues of the Beaconette. This year's officers have been very successful in carrying out their purpose under their editors-in-chief, Judith Ribock and Kenneth Barron. In addition to their writing tasks the staff has been the guest of the "Boston Globe" at several journalism conferences and screen plays. Indeed, we sincerely hope that the Journalism Club will continue to be as valuable in the future as it has been in the past.

The officers of the Journalism Club who are Judy Ribock and Kenneth Barron, editors-in-chief, and Syrel Maskin and Herbert Selesnick, assistant editors, are working painstakingly to complete their Beaconette by the deadline.

Traffic Squad . . .

This year again as in previous years, a traffic squad was formed under the direction of Roman F. Pucko. A group of 30 boys were selected according to their scholastic standing and on recommendation of their homeroom teacher. The general duty of this squad is to aid in keeping order while the students are filing and seat them properly at the assemblies throughout the year, which this year's squad have definitely fulfilled.

Pep Club . . .

With the cooperation of the cheering squad the pep squad faithfully followed the team, no matter how bad the weather, and displayed the school spirit for which they are noted. Their Red Devil hats, shakers, megaphones, and most of all their lively cheers, are the envy of all other schools. The annual dance sponsored by the club was a huge success, the proceeds of which went toward the Scholarship Fund.

Yell it high, yell it low, this will be heard wherever you go! And we sure did go all the way to victory on our main athletic event of the year.

Honor Society

Ben Saivetz, Herbert Selesnick and Beverly Chernak as officers of the Honor Society, have all worked painstakingly with their President, Thelma Spector, to successfully carry out the various programs throughout the year.

Faithfully carrying out its dual purpose of promoting social enjoyment and increasing the honor roll enrollment, the Chelsea Senior High School Honor Society, under the excellent supervision of Miss Harriet Malone, has completed its fifth successful year. Among the numerous programs planned by the officers, was the demonstration of a group of interesting slides of various European countries presented by Mr. Irving Schwartz who has collected them in the course of his travels. Indeed this meeting proved to be most interesting and enjoyable to its members. Not only does it influence, as formerly stated, but bestows tribute upon those deserving students who quarterly receive all A's and B's. We, as members of the Senior class now leave it in your hands, juniors and sophomores, and entrust to you the task of maintaining and increasing the high standards already reached.

It has been entirely due to the excellent supervision of Miss. Harriet Malone, that our Honor Society has achieved such great success.

To help our community, to work hand in hand with our fellow man, and to give assistance to those children both at home and abroad who are unable to assist themselves, are the purposes of Junior Red Cross. During the past year the Red Cross representatives have sent favors during Christmas to those children who were bedridden, and also they have collected much money during the soliciting of Junior Red Cross boxes. Under the excellent leadership of Mrs. Phyllis Fogel, this club at Chelsea Senior High School has definitely done its part in bringing a little happiness into the hearts of these needy and handicapped children.

We are proud to acknowledge the fact that Martin Leader, a member of our class, holds the coveted office of President of Regional Red Cross.

Football . . . Chelsea shows her strength

We appreciate your help from the bottom of our hearts, Mr. McCarthy, for we are completely aware of the fact that if we hadn't been gifted with your assistance, the miracle of our victory over Everett would never have occurred.

and alertness

Eddie Evans' two touchdowns against Everett during our annual Thanksgiving game surely were the highlights of our glorious victory.

If ever a song could describe football seasons, the one that would be most appropriate could be called "Heartbreak Hotel," for our seemingly invincible grid squad were only able to capture three of the eight games played. But this was to be expected as 1957 was a "build up" year for the Devil Squad.

Under the never idle efforts of head coach, Henry McCarthy and his experienced veteran assistants, Saul Nechtem and Bill Sartorelli, team spirit was kept at a maximum.

Chelsea High School's rugged defense proved itself by great efforts in halting highly favored opponents. One such example of this is the contest between the highly voted Somerville team in which Somerville was in the waning moments of the game by an interception. On the other hand, the offense had trouble waging a running game, forcing them to take to the air.

However, bad times were forgotten as our Chelsea High red and black smashed the mighty Everett line posting a score of 25-0 in favor of our devil squad at the traditional "Turkey Day" game played before 9,000 spectators in the Everett Stadium. For this victory, the memory of our team will remain in our hearts forever.

The long run against Newton by Bob Leonard proved that the strenuous practice sessions were not in vain.

"Is this one of the tenser moments of the game, Coach?"

Pete and Vinny really deserve credit for their great defense against Quincy.

It was interceptions like this that won us our Everett victory.

As you can see, there were no limits to our Thanksgiving Day Rally preceding that game that will never be forgotten by our class.

Rumor has it that because of the excellent job that the boys' cheering squad did during the rally, the girls' cheering squad may be replaced next season. Watch out, girls, for you wouldn't want those athletes to outdo you, would you?

Let's go, let's go, let's really go! Yes, that's just what we did. Our boys must have listened to every word of that cheer for our victory was certainly overwhelming.

Cheerleaders . . . together with our Band

Pep, personality and popularity easily describe one of Chelsea High's most vivacious supporters—The Chelsea High School cheering squad. Donned in Red, Black and White uniforms they accompanied our boys throughout the long seasons. Coached only by their Captain and four Co-Captains, the twelve girls on the 1957-58 squad lead the rousing cheers and helped boost the morale of the Chelsea spectators and team. In addition, the girls offer their services as usherettes during meetings of the Parent-Teachers' Association as well as running their successful annual dance, the proceeds of which helped to pay for their new uniforms.

Our Cheering Squad kneeling: Captain Nancy Mitchell, Co-Captains Joyce DeAngelis, Cecile Rosselli, Linda McCallum and Sybil Feldman. Standing: Minna Karas, Beverly Hartstone, Carol Kearley, Judith Stone, Regina McCarthy, Cynthia Sokolowski and Diane Huges.

The cheering squad with their enthusiastic spirit led our football and basketball teams on to victory as well as entertained us with their colorful uniforms and inspiring cheers.

Our high-strutting majorettes added sparkle and spirit to the entire senior body in attendance at the Thanksgiving Rally.

they are a vital part of Chelsea spirit . . .

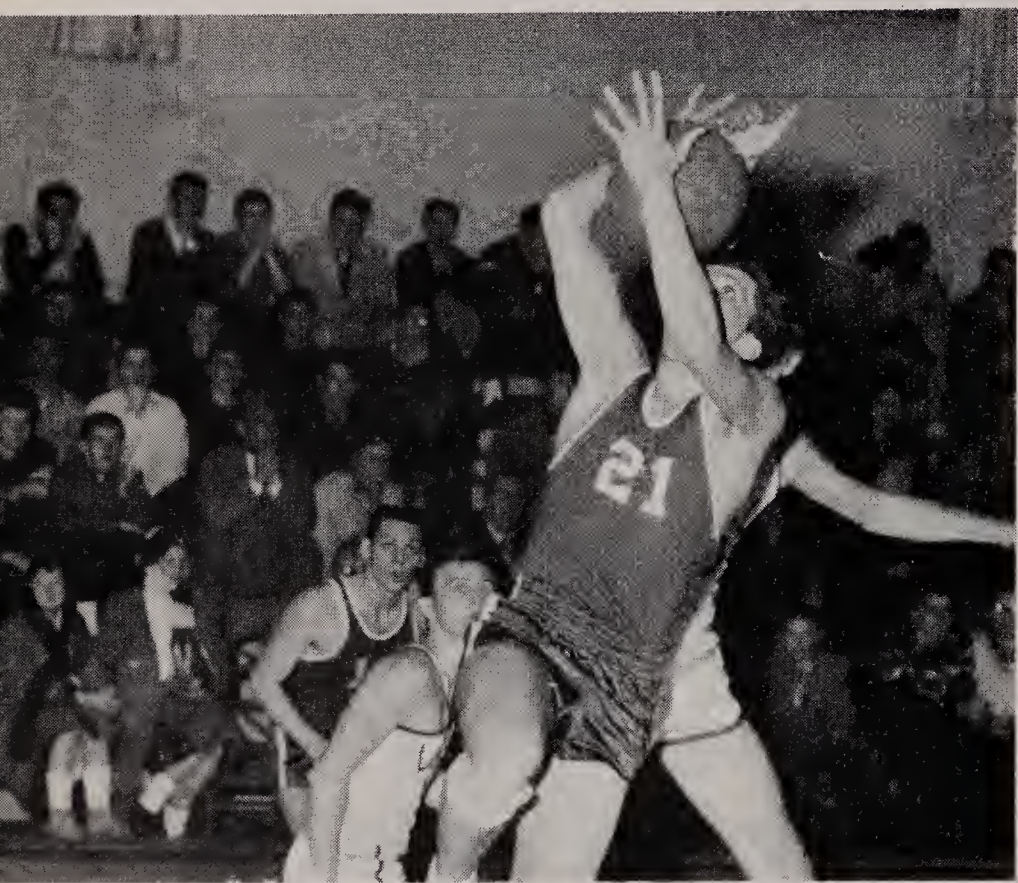

Without the music of our band, the spirit pervading our football games could have never been the same.

The majorettes here at CHS have always been one group to be proud of. The memory of these girls strutting across the stadium will remain with us forever. Under the leadership of Captain Marie Perry, the squad, consisting of five seniors and seven juniors, have performed right along with the band since the beginning of the year. Their precision comes from hard work of practicing and concentrated effort. They will always be remembered for the high amount of color and spirit which they brought to the school.

Only through the excellent leadership of Marie Perry have our majorettes been able to exhibit outstanding performances.

Let's go, Carl. Get that jump shot and make the score go up, up, up.

The Chelsea quintet possessed the ability, experience, and hustle all through the season. They had the rebounding Kelly, and 32 and 33 point performances of Selby and Barron; but the main trouble of the Red Devils was the lack of teamwork.

Coach Nechtem has several varsity performers, including Selby and Evans, returning next year, as well as several promising Sophomores; but his main problem will be a capable center and rebounder to replace Leonard Kelly.

The Chelsea Senior High School 1958 basketball team proved to be disappointing and puzzling to their many royal rooters. Playing their longest and most difficult schedule in several years in the revamped Greater Boston League, the Red Devils won only scattered victories until they closed with a later season spurt, winning three straight and finishing with a record of seven wins and eleven defeats.

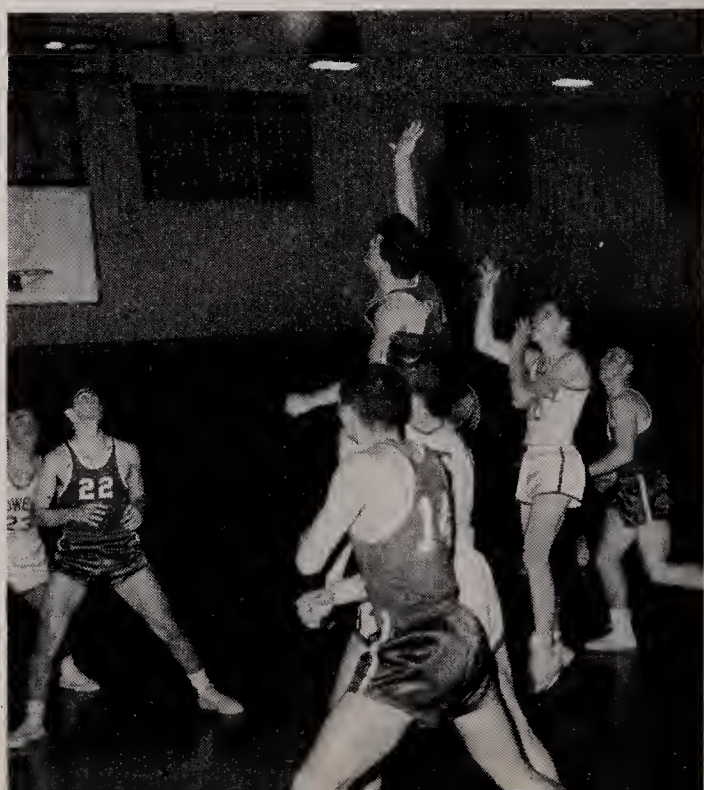

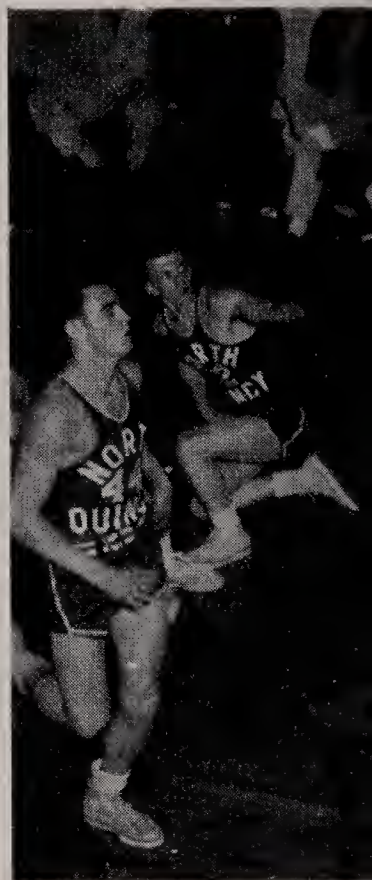

The Red Devils were led by their center and captain, Leonard Kelly, one of the top rebounders in the league; veteran sharpshooting guard David Barron; their high scorer, Junior Arthur Selby; and the hustle and spark of Peter Savosik and Edward Evans.

Basketball . . .

"Butchie Selby is our man; if he can't do it, no one can!" These were the shouts that were heard as he continuously made baskets.

Come on, Peter, stretch that Yard! Just a wee bit more and we'll definitely gain that basket.

Lenny Kelley, our victorious captain, certainly has the form that makes the perfect basketball star.

alert and good*

Saul Neehtem, our spirited basketball coach, is giving last minute instructions to his varsity team.

With a swing as powerful as that, a homerun seems almost inevitable.

That's the way to do it, Pete! We can always use an extra homerun, can't we?

Baseball and Track . . .

Under the fine guidance of Coach Al Pierotti the players of the Chelsea High baseball team completed the 1957 season with a record of 5 wins and 9 losses. Although not a very impressive record, this is an improvement over the previous year when they won only two games. Lack of steady hitting and reliable defense hampered the club throughout the season. With an abundance of veteran material expected back, Al Pierotti and his baseball squad can look forward to a better showing in 1958.

The 1957 Red Devil cinder path machine had a fine start in the season by beating Revere, Winthrop and Melrose. Although they lost the next two meets, the C. H. S. running broad jumpers, Jim. Walker, Ed Evans and Mike Olenik, set a new State Record at the University of Mass. relays. Jim Walker also won the state 100 yard dash championship. The outstanding track performers for 1957 were Arnie Baker, Stan Reid, and of course Jim Walker.

The 1958 track team hopes to maintain the standards set by previous C. H. S. sons of the cinder path.

Coach Bernard Berenson has a fine nucleus of senior lettermen, led by captain William Kilroy. They are: Vincent DeFlumeri, Mike Olenik, Dan and Ronnie Belanger and Jim Smith.

For assistance, the following outstanding juniors hope to add their names to the scoring parade for "58": Bob Carolan, Ed Evans, Mel Frim, Bob Comeau, Charles Maglione, Joe Sanderson, and Peter Dalis. The 1958 senior managers are Joseph Daniszewski and James Downing.

Way back! That's it, boys! Wow, what athletics we have!

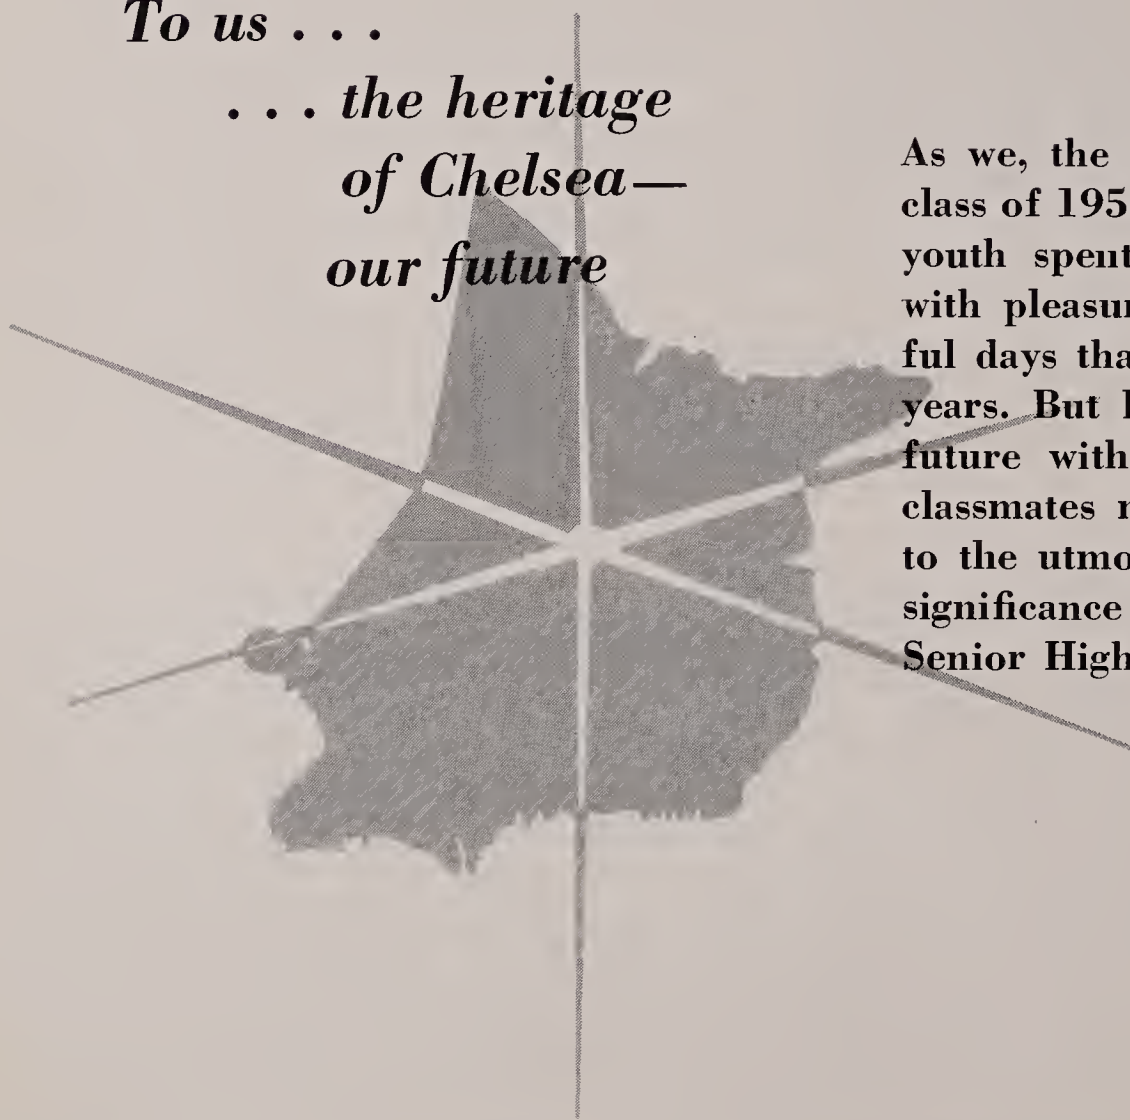

To us . . .

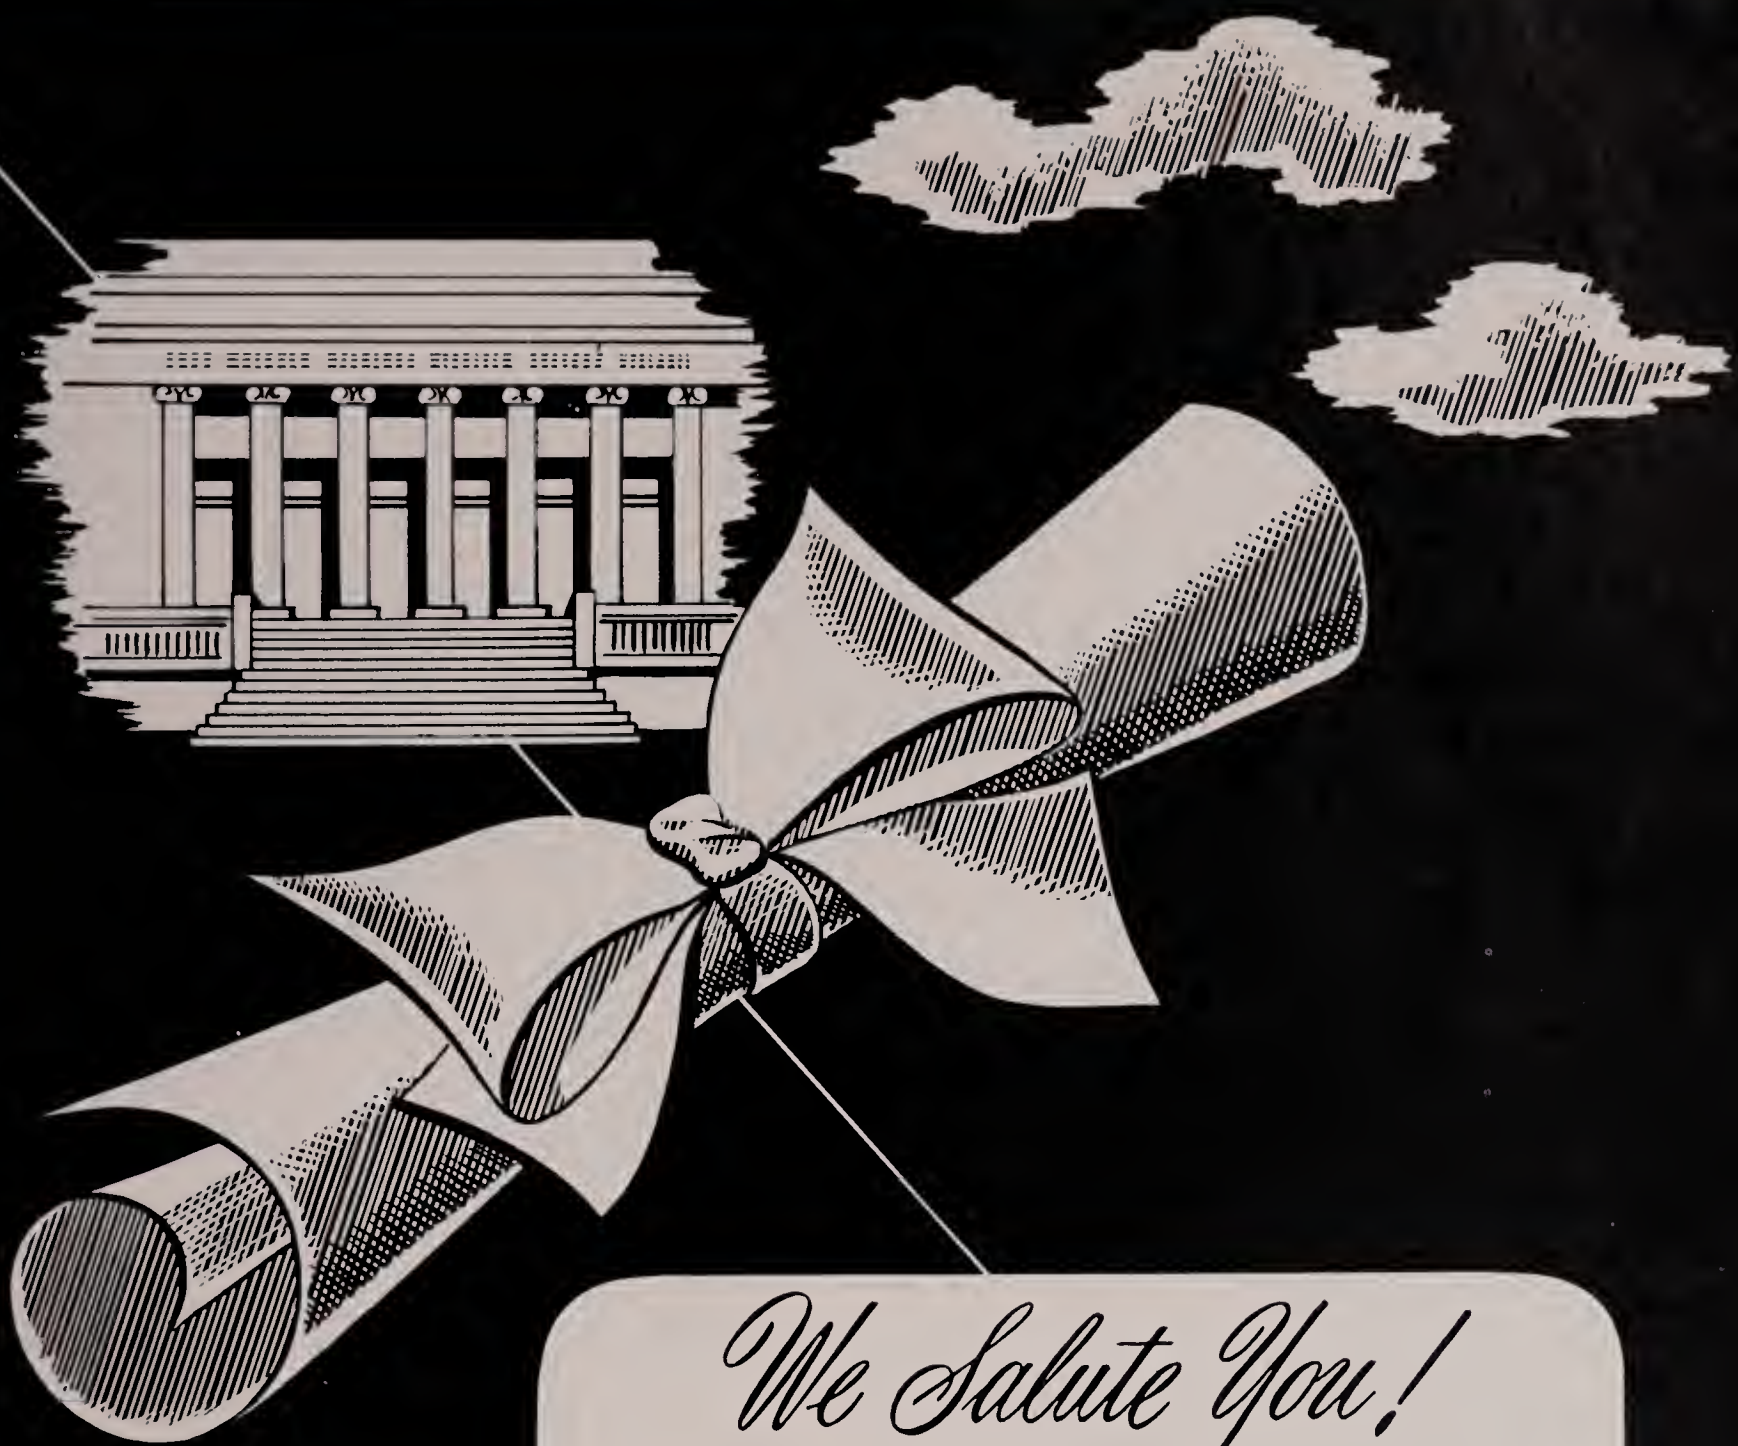

*. . . the heritage
of Chelsea—
our future*

As we, the members of the graduating class of 1958, look back and survey our youth spent here in Chelsea, we view with pleasure all the happy and eventful days that made up these adolescent years. But let us now turn toward the future with the hope that all of our classmates may utilize their knowledge to the utmost and faithfully reveal the significance and beauty of a Chelsea Senior High School diploma.

PERFORMANCE

- ◆ ◆ ◆ in the harmonizing qualities of education and student life
- ◆ ◆ ◆ in the accomplished task of student endeavor
- ◆ ◆ ◆ in the entity of the publisher's contribution

There is no substitute for the above mentioned elements, in the success of any yearbook publication. The 1958 Beacon is a tribute to the coordination of these facets.

The work of the publisher contributes to the ultimate alliance between the school and the attainment of a fine yearbook. The results of the forethought and effort on the part of the publisher have resulted in this successful performance—the 1958 Beacon.
